Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Caldwell Give Bridge for Miss Cruikshank.
FIRST PLACE FOR THE VISITORS
Next Week's Calendar Fills with More Promising Affairs—Bridge and Bridge Luncheons Most Popular Entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Caldwell entertained at bridge last evening at their home in honor of their sister, Miss Frances Wessels and her guest, Miss Cruikshank of Hannibal, Mo. The guests included Misses Cruikshank, Lucille Hayden, Eugenie Whitmore, Marion Connelly, Carolyn Barklow, Helen Davis, Mary Alice Rogers, Elizabeth Congdon, Blanche Bess Baum, Mary Morgan, Amy Gilmore, Catherine Grable, Frances Wessels; Messrs Bryant Rogers, Harry Lowe, Paul Beaton, Frank Haskell, Elmer Cope, Lee McShane, Wallace Lyman, Denise Barklow, John Redick, William Schorr of Council Bluffs, George Proudfoot of Lincoln, Stanley Ineson, Robert Burns, Conrad Young and Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell.

Bridge Luncheon.
Among the larger affairs of the day was the bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Lee Herdman and Mrs. Arthur F. Smith at the home of Mrs. Herdman, on west Harney street. The guests were seated at small tables. Cut glass centerpieces with blue, shaded candles made effective centerpieces for the table and pink carnations and stelia were used in further decoration through the rooms and on the tables. Both place cards and score cards had a design of pink carnations and twenty-four guests were present.

C. T. Eucher Club.
The C. T. Eucher and Luncheon club was entertained Thursday by Mrs. Eugene Duval at her home. Cut flowers decorated the table and covers were placed for Mesdames H. B. Rahm, E. W. Arthur, W. P. Mikesell, Gus Epeneter, J. B. Blanchard, N. B. Reardon, Reed Talmage, A. Werner, P. J. McGrath, R. Young and Mrs. Duval. The club guests were Mrs. J. Comfort and Mrs. W. H. Sheridan.

Theater Party.
Captain and Mrs. Otto Nesmith gave a theater party at Boyd's, Thursday evening to see "The Servant in the House," in which Miss Collier, an intimate friend of Mrs. Nesmith's, is the leading lady. After the theater they had supper at the Hanson cafe and those present were Miss Collier, General and Mrs. Charles Morton, Colonel and Mrs. W. P. Evans and Captain and Mrs. Nesmith.

For Miss Cox.
Mrs. Allen D. Luckett entertained at cards Thursday afternoon at her home, 185 South Thirty-fourth street, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Cox of Waterloo, Ia. Those present were Mesdames Henry Christianson, George Smith, Charles Woodland, B. B. Baldwin, Harry Macomber, Frank Jumper, Herbert Woodland, Earl Sterrick, Harry Shears, Allen D. Luckett; Misses Louise Hamilton, Hazel Adams, Olive Huntley, Martha O'Malley, Helen Nields, Letha Butler, Mabel Huntley and Elsie Cox.

Birthdays.
A party of friends surprised Mrs. Arthur W. Young Thursday evening to celebrate her birthday. Cards and music were the evening amusements and the prize was won by Mrs. G. A. Raugh of Chicago. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Raugh, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carley of South Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Carley, Mr. and Mrs. George Guinter, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Dreusdow, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Patten, Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beveridge, Mr. and Mrs. John Beveridge, Mr. and Mrs. John Oiler, Mr. and Mrs. William Metz, Mr. and Mrs. George Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kreeger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toy, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Hans E. Austin; Misses Grace Shultz, Tina Maudsloni, Mrs. Maudsloni, Lily Adams, Freda Swartzlander, Mary Young of South Omaha, Sarah Hanna, Annie Margud, Inez Adams, Callahan, Margaret Carey of South Omaha; Messrs. Harry Swartzlander, Del Johnson, Gus Callahan, Swartzlander, Dr. L. S. Swartzlander, Lou Johnson.

Surprise Party.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Karis of 1628 North Twenty-second street were pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening by their friends, the occasion being Mr. Karis's birthday. He was presented with a rocking chair. Music and dancing were the features of the evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Benish, Mr. and Mrs. Winquist, Mr. and Mrs. Hargardine, Mr. and Mrs. H. Burcamp, Mr. and Mrs. W. Burcamp, Mr. and Mrs. Heft, Mr. and Mrs. Sherry, Mr. and Mrs. Nagl, Mr. and Mrs. Wiggs, Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. J. Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Karis, Misses Marguerite Brown, Frances Murphy, Lenora Ayers, May Burcamp.

Informal Affairs.
Complimentary to Mrs. Frederick Baylies of Chicago, who is the guest of Mrs. Edwin T. Swobe, Mrs. Jerome Magee entertained informally at a bridge luncheon today at her home. Spring flowers were used in decoration and covers were placed for twelve guests.

Miss Helen Brandeis entertained informally Wednesday for Miss Florence Cook, one of the February brides. Her guests were the Misses Kathryn Hunting, Pearl Rockefeller, May Hunting and Mesdames George Gruening, G. Lupp, Ramsdell, Smith and F. Rainey.

Prospective Pleasures.
Prominent among the affairs of next week will be a dinner party given next Thursday by a number of bachelors in Omaha for some of the officers and their wives of Fort Crook in return for the courtesy and hospitality of the hosts and hostesses from the post. The hosts for the dinner party include Mr. B. W. Capon, Mr. Conrad Young, Mr. Ward Palmer, Mr. Herbert Daniel, Mr. Wilson Switzer, Mr. John Redick, Dr. Robert Hollister, Mr. Harry Kelly, Mr. Sidney Smith and Mr. Wallace Lyman.

Mrs. C. Y. Smith will be hostess at a bridge party Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Frederick Baylies of Chicago, who is visiting Mrs. Edwin T. Swobe.

The bridge party, which was to have been given this afternoon by Miss Agnes Burkley at her home in honor of Miss Genevieve Johnston of Fort Crook and her guest, Miss Alma Higgins of St. Louis, has been indefinitely postponed owing to the inclement weather.

Complimentary to Miss Mary Morgan, Mr. Hal Yates will give a theater party next Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Downs left Thursday for Mexico and California, to be gone two months.

Mrs. H. J. McArthur of Hanna, Wyo., is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. M. Henton, for a few weeks.

The Delta Tau Delta alumni will hold its monthly dinner party this evening at Han-

WHAT THE WOMEN ARE DOING

Omaha W. C. T. U. Discusses Plans for National Convention.

OFF FOR CANAL ZONE MEETING

Heads of General Federation to Visit Panama Clubs—Big Crowd of New York Women Escort Them to Wharf.

The educational meeting of the Omaha Woman's Christian Temperance union was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Dempster, 111 North Twenty-fifth street, and was one of the largest of the year. The union is doing its educational work along the most practical lines and these meetings have come to be one of its features. A report was made of the co-operation of the state and local unions in forming an executive committee to arrange for the entertainment of the annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance union, which will be held in Omaha next October. This committee will include representatives from all the organizations that united in extending the invitation to the convention. Rev. Frank L. Loveland has been made its chairman and Mrs. Edward Johnson, president of the Omaha Woman's club, its secretary. This committee will be called together for its first formal session February 5.

Following the reports an informal program was given and refreshments were served. Several new members were taken into the organization.

Frances Willard union also met Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. T. R. Ward of 2111 Wirt street, being hostess.

Off for Panama.

It was with truly wholesome enthusiasm that the club women of New York bid good-bye to Mrs. Philip N. Moore and Mrs. John D. Sherman, as they sailed from New York last week for Panama. Several hundred strong they accompanied the travelers to the wharf to tell them goodbye and send messages to the women of the canal zone. It will be remembered that the Canal Zone Federation of Clubs was organized two years ago by Miss Helen V. Roswell at the instigation of the United States government and Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Sherman, president and vice president of the General Federation of Clubs, are going to Panama now to attend its first annual convention. The Woman's Forum of New York, of which Miss Roswell is president, was at the wharf in a body, while Sorosis, often referred to as the "Mother of Clubs," was nearly as well represented. Mrs. Philip Carpenter, president of Sorosis, is one of the directors of the General Federation. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Sherman expect to return in time for the biennial council of the General Federation, which will be held at San Antonio, Tex., March 31 to April 1.

Every state in the union and the great majority of the American provinces now have federations of women's clubs that are affiliated with the General Federation. Nevada was the last of the states to organize its clubs, this having been accomplished recently. Panama, Alaska and the far-off Philippines all have clubs that were represented at the biennial convention of the General Federation, held at Boston last June. With the leisure and the means both Mrs. Decker and Mrs. Moore have visited extensively among the clubs during their administrations as president of the General Federation, more so than any of their predecessors, and Mrs. Moore having now established a precedent by attending the Panama convention it begins to look as though executive ability, culture, breadth of mind and leisure will not be the only requirements of women who shall occupy the office of president in the future.

EVOLUTION OF THE 'KERCHIEF

It is Not So Much in Evidence Now as in the Days of Empress Josephine.

One of the strangest facts illustrating the vanity of woman is that the lace handkerchief owed its introduction to the Empress Josephine's bad teeth. Josephine's vanity is no new subject with historians, who as a group, however, neglect the care with which she kept the world from observing that her teeth were neither ornamental nor useful. It is with Josephine's vanity as it was manifested toward Napoleon that historians are concerned, not with her instinctive care for her own appearance. She never laughed except from behind the cover of a lace handkerchief. It was a trick the meaning of which was known to every woman in France, yet so contradictory is feminine nature that it took but a short time for women of all degrees to give themselves to imitation.

WAIST LINE COMING DOWN

Some of the Smartest Evening Models Still Cling to the Empire.

One seems unable so far to get away from the Empire lines in the province of the evening frock, though waistlines are already being lowered for other models.

One beautiful model exhibited recently was a clinging Empire robe of supple white satin, over which fell a simple tunic of chiffon in an exquisite light yet bright green lighter than grass green, less yellow than lettuce, but something between the two. The clinging satin robe had no trimming, whatever, but the chiffon tunic was trimmed in bands of tiny crystal bugles applied in closely massed straight lines on fine white net.

The crystal lines were set so closely to gether that the foundation net scarcely showed, although each gleaming line was quite distinct. A two inch band of this trimming bordered the bottom of the tunic, which fell in a point in front and over the train in a much larger point. Bands of the same width passed over the chiffon drapery, which passed over the shoulders and down to meet a white satin girde on each side to the front.

The low cut square defined by this drapery and the girde top had folds of the chiffon laid across it for the first few inches, but above this a wide band of the crystal trimming brought the decolletage up to the decorous height, and from the lower edge of this band hung a fine crystal fringe which reached to the girde top, quite covering the horizontal chiffon folds. The short sleeves, close fitting and reaching half way to the elbow, were entirely of the crystal embroidered net.

Now here was a frock which gave an impression of excessive smartness and yet which aside from its perfection of cut and line had about it nothing so subtle as to be discouraging and no trimming which could not be bought by the yard.

RESTORING COLOR TO CLOTH

Color is There and May Easily Be Brought Out Again if You Know How.

A great many times when spotting light-colored clothes, especially when this is done at home, or by any other than an expert cleaner, the original color of the garment seems to have been lost. This is noticeable in the handling of light blues or pinks and even greens and yellows. The color is still in the goods and easily can be restored. This is done by adding one ounce of acetic acid to four gallons of water; the mixture is well stirred and the complete garment is immersed in this solution.

You will find that after your garment has been in this mixture for some time and has had a chance to absorb the acidified solution the original color has been restored.

HINTS FOR BEAUTY SEEKERS

Expert Explains How Eyelashes May Be Grown and Hands Improved.

The following mixture applied to the eyelashes twice a day will bring admirable results: Three ounces of red vaseline, one ounce of tincture of red cartharides, one ounce of Jamaica rum and five drops of the mixture in your eyes, for the oil will make them smart.

Before trying to get your hands clean rub a good spoonful of vaseline into them; then wash them in warm water, using a pure soap and a fairly stiff hand scrubbing brush. Rinse and dry carefully. Then apply the following lotion: Eight ounces rose water, one ounce pulverized borax, one drachm tincture of benzoin and one ounce glycerine.

Sandpaper Worn Collars.

Old collars and cuffs that have become worn on the edges from wear and laundering can be used again by sandpapering the edges of same with a fine piece of sandpaper.

COREAN YOUTH IN SCHOOL

Young Man of Eighteen Goes to Class with Children of Seven and Eight.

The Occident is being shown an example of pluck by a young man from the Orient. Choonow W. Park of Cakul, Pyeng An, Corea, past 18 years of age, has started to school in the Saunders building with children a little over one-third of his age and is assiduously studying with the little boys and girls 7 and 8 years of age. Choonow is in the second grade, having spent one year in an American school before coming to Omaha. He is a husky youth, but his size has not deterred him from his determination to learn American ways in an American school with children of the primary grades.

Choonow Park is working for his board at the home of Mrs. Edward O'Neill, 92 North Fortieth street. In addition to his board Mrs. O'Neill pays him $1 a week, but the money he hoards to send home to his father, Jy Park, in far-off Corea.

The Corean has been in America nearly two years and has been in Omaha about a month.

Can a Medicine Be a "Fake" that has lived and grown in popularity for thirty years, and demonstrated its worth by actual cures of female ills in thousands and thousands of American families?

Any fair-minded, intelligent person will emphatically answer NO! Such a medicine is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, and it ever increasing popularity is due to actual merit alone.

CLASSICISM IN COIFFURE
Quaint Fillet and Bandeau Arrangements Worn with Smoothly Parted Hair.

Hair dressing, like the frocks, has taken on a Franco-Greek classicism, and one is beginning to see innumerable quaint and pretty fillet and bandeau arrangements in connection with smoothly parted front hair and softly massed puffs and curls on the back of the head—not low on the neck, not high, but filling in the circle left by the bandeau in a Psyche fashion, long as removed from the door knob knot which some women insist upon regarding as a Psyche knot.

The new coiffure will be abused, it is already being abused. It is not universally becoming and it needs to be most cleverly arranged. Set sausagelike puffs will not do, even if disposed at the right angle. There must be a dainty inconsequence about the arrangement, soft little locks curling here and there; no hard angles, no prominent lines.
